Mr. Dayton's Luncheon
Rosh Hashanah, in Freedom
69,352 Lbs. to the Acre
When Mrs. Hutton Prays
By Arthur Brisbane

YESTERDAY, friends invited James G. Dayton to luncheon because it was his birthday. For many years a member of the Hearst newspaper's organization, and publisher of the New York Evening Journal, Mr. Dayton, the ablest publisher, with one possible exception, living in the United States, illustrates in himself what a newspaper publisher should be.

Sitting on one side of him yesterday was Bernard P. Gimbel, head of the Gimbel Brothers' department stores, and on the other, Joseph H. Apple, head of the great Wanamaker establishment. Both had business relations with Mr. Dayton for many years, each had spent millions of dollars with him in the New York Evening Journal. Neither, in all the years, had had the slightest discussion with Mr. Dayton on any question of business, rates, or anything else.

There is only one set of rates, one way of doing business, one organization managed by Mr. Dayton. That is the sort of publisher that intelligent advertisers like.

Tomorrow is Rosh Hashanah, Jewish New Year. The holy day, Number 50th, according to the Hebrew calendar, begins at sundown this evening, with the blowing of the shofar, a hollowed ram's horn. Special services will be held later in the night, the poor and the crippled.

In this fortunate country, which keeps government and religion separate, men may think, worship and fix their calendar as they please, as long as they do not interfere with each other.

A telegram from Stockholm, Cal., sent yesterday by R. C. Zuckerman, who has 2700 acres in potatoes on McDonald Island, near the delta of the San Joaquin river, announces that one single acre, carefully dug and weighed under careful supervision, produced 69,352 pounds of potatoes. This breaks all world records, so you may congratulate California, and Potato-Farmer Zuckerman.

A country with such soil and such farmers ought not to be in difficulties, and especially should not have millions hungry.

An old hymn tells how Satan trembles when he sees a sinner in his knees. He has been translated times as fast as he could see. Ames Temple McPherson Hutton on HER knees in New York.

Tuesday night, Ames Temple McPherson Hutton, "warming up" for her grand appearance in the big New York theatre, went to Tom Noonan's little mission in Dover at Chinatown. She prayed, and told the devil quite plainly what she thought about him—you child almost bare the ground shake from his trembling. Terephoners were converted, then there, which means just 21 fewer boarders or victims for Satan.

When she prays presently in the big New York theatre, she says she won't dare ask converts to come up to the stage, as lesser revivals do, because they would "swamp her."

Col. Frank B. Shutt, editor and owner of the Miami Herald, wants the world to know "Chicago, in preparing and carrying through the great 'Congress of Progress Exposition' in the face of the depression and every difficulty, has rendered service to the entire nation. He writes: 'I have been in the position, taking all of my family with me, and I am convinced that apart from the great benefit to Chicago, it is impossible to exaggerate the good that this exposition has done throughout the country at large. I advise every American citizen to visit the exposition before it closes.'

BLACK PLEDGES RAILROADERS' AID TOWARD REFLECTION

AMONGST COTTON GROWERS URGES SURPRISE TO WASHINGTON

Cotton Growers Urge New Money; Pittman for Free Silver

Washington, Sept. 20 (AP)—The movement toward reflection as a means to national recovery was marked today by these latest major developments:

1.—A gathering of cotton growers presented for consideration by the President a resolution calling for issuance of $400,000,000 in new currency for immediate employment.

2.—Senator Roy Pittman of Nevada urged on the President a plan for the free coinage of silver, which he hoped to increase the value of silver from 40 cents to $1.25 an ounce, and permit additional coinage this year of $25,000,000.

3.—Chairman Eugene Black of the Federal Reserve Board announced the country's banks would support

Transcontinental Roads a National Need

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 19, 1933. JAMES T. WILLIAMS, JR., UNIVERSITY SERVICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

There does not seem to be much progress being made with the public works program. Cannot you who are located at Washington, make greater progress in this direction?

That program is especially valuable in the early period of the return to prosperity. It puts the unemployed to work, saves them from being dependent on private charity, makes independent citizens of them again, and increases the purchasing power of the community.

In addition to that it accomplishes necessary objectives.

It performs things beneficial to the country.

It seems to me that one of the most beneficial projects to the nation as a whole is the completion of at least three great highways from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Highways exist, but they are not complete. They are interrupted here and there by considerable stretches of very bad road.

Consequently the use of these highways is not as universal, not as alluring, as it would be if the highways were perfected.

The benefit of these great highways when perfected would be many-sided.

It would not only benefit the practical commercial ways the states and communities through which they pass, but it would lead myriads of citizens into taking automobile trips in their own country, and into becoming familiar with what are to them the distant parts of our country.

It would be educational, and inspirational.

It would make them better Americans.

In addition to that it would keep much money at home that is now spent in foreign travel.

All these purposes make the completion of the highways I think, a patriotic project, and one important to the country at any time, but especially important at this time, because the employment on them would be immediate and ex- tensive, and the construction largely a matter of labor.

I DO NOT think the federal government should place too much emphasis on the fact that the state governments are not always doing their part in the co-operative construction of these highways.

In the first place, these great national highways are in the nature of things more a federal proposition than a state proposition, and the federal government could easily afford to supply the whole cost of construction, on account of the benefits accruing to the nation as a whole.

But if the government insists upon the states performing their part and the states are not financially able to do so, as some of them certainly are not at this time, then the government could surely devise some way by which the federal agencies could do the work and the states could in- sure promises to pay their part when prosperity returns.

THE importance, however, of these highways as a national benefit, I repeat, is so great that the federal government should consider their construction from the national point of view and with the purpose of carrying out the national appropriations to relieve unemployment, and to create permanent national employment.

MACHINISTS' CASE NICE AIMEE -- Naughty Dave

SOOTHING FOR SOULS--ALL MALE

Many Witnesses Tell of Oil Magnate Kidnaping

Chicago, Sept. 20 (AP)—A witness for the government in the conspiracy case against Harvey Bailey, Albert Bates and 10 other persons, underwent a rigid cross-examination today.

In the machine gun-guarded courtroom the oil magnate was cross-examined by Attorney General Cummings, representing Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Fender, and their son, Arthur B. Fender, Jr., who testified to being out with Shannon Urechel while he was in captivity at Shannon's ranch.

Atty. Gen. Cummings asked Urechel how he knew Bates helped guard him if he was blindfolded.

Urechel testified that at times the blindfold was changed. Urechel then explained.

Arthur B. Fender, an official of the Fort Worth National Bank, testified records showed a safety box had been taken away by Shannon. The box contained $250, a diamond watch and three diamond rings.

MACHINE GUN SHOWN

The machine gun carried by one of the two men who invaded the Urechel home and kidnaped the oil magnate came for attention.

Mr. Kelly, of a Fort Worth, Tex., firearms concern, testified he sold on Feb. 15, 1933, to the wife of "Machine-Gun" George Kelly, a machine gun, serial number 407, which the government claims is the gun carried into the Urechel home.

Mr. Kelly said his husband saw both fugitives and are wanted in connection with the Urechel kidnaping.

John G. Calvert, Tulsa oil man and close friend of Urechel, testified concerning a letter he received from Urechel while the latter was in the kidnapers' hands.

By BERNARD A. DOHERTY
Chairman Joseph A. Maynard of the Democratic State Committee revealed today to the Boston Evening American that he is heartily in accord with efforts of Chairman John W. Newman of the Democratic City Committee to create order out of chaos in the mayoralty fight.

The Republican said Maynard, "is trying the old trick, which is to name, divide and conquer—that is, divide your opponents and beat them at the polls."

"But I don't think they will be successful this time. They worked that trick in the Boston mayoralty contest in 1925, and they worked it in the national election in 1928, when they were defeated. In 1932, too, they were defeated."

STRAW VOTES OBJECTIVE
"Chairman Newman is doing his duty by striving to get the Democrats to agree on one strong candidate, and I am willing to work with him, glad to help all I can."

The Boston Evening American with its straw poll of all registered Democratic voters in the city is seeking the same end and selection of one strong candidate whom the rank and file of the party want.

Maynard said he did not plan to attend the Parker House conference of candidates called by Newman for Friday evening, as he has been invited.

The Republican city committee, of which Herman Hornet is chairman, is not officially active in the situation, but it knows that many of the numbers are doing

"Racing Bills" Will Demonstrate Value of Buy in September as Trade Stimulant

of Buy in September as Trade Stimulant
This is a RACING BILL.
Spend it as fast as you can.

By accepting this bill you become a member of the RACING SPENDING TEAM. It is one of ten bills spent by the Boston Evening American on 12th month, Sept. 23, 1933. The first bill spent ten times and returned to the Boston Evening American a prize of $500 to every member of the RACING SPENDING TEAM. Do not remove the bill from your pocket. Spend it as it is and at once for some useful purchase. The last spender and signer will receive ten dollars for returning the bill to the American office, in addition to possible prize money.

HURRY! SPEND IT TODAY!
And sign your name.
(Save your receipts)

Here's real money to spend in September. Ten wallets, each containing $5 bills, will be launched in the channels of trade and signs his name to the list. A prize will be given, Bankers and business men praise the contest not only as a business stimulant but as a vivid demonstration of the innumerable industries which are sustained by the expenditure of a single five dollar bill.

Mayor Entry 18 Gets His Papers

Boston mayor candidate No. 18 applied for nomination papers today, and is circulating them tonight.

He is Robert J. Ward, youth Boston drugist, living at 833 E. 1st street, and has a place of business at O and Fourth st.

Ward is a former state Representative and member of the Boston City Council. He is 33 and a Democrat.

all they can to aid the candidacy of Malcolm E. Nichols.

No matter which candidate comes out on top, he must be a man who will support the executive committee in every endeavor toward recovery, it was declared today by Chairman Theodore A. Street, Commissioner, himself a candidate for mayor, speaking at a luncheon of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Club of North.

Memoirs the Good Government Association is trying to decide whom it will support. The executive committee is having a headache puzzling over the candidates who have been chosen to three—Henry F. Cummings, Jr., Frederick H. Crawford and Judge Michael H. Sullivan.

Parkman is a Republican. The election is officially non-partisan, and the Good Government club is on a non-partisan basis.

GOVERNOR VALE
Incumbent Gov. G. A. Chace, at school at, elicited the information that the choice for governor would be made by the voters in the final day for withdrawals and one day after the ball has rung on substitutions.

The G. A. endorsement has been worth between 15,000 and 40,000 votes in the past. Few will venture a guess as to its value this year. Some think it won't be large.

Daniel H. Coker's entrance in the fight, exclusively from the Boston Evening American, was the chief topic of discussion in political circles today. That Mr. Coker displayed a damper on the field made by Dist. Atty. Foley, following Parkman's entrance in the field, was widely noted.

"Now that I'm in the fight I will," said Coker, "I am confident that I can support the right man. I am a man who will support the right man."

"But the blue-ribbon crew in the city and the well-to-do members of a few candidates backed that happy outcome. That is why I am a candidate."

Prizes Offered to Passers of Recovery Envoys

In order to clearly indicate what a variety of activities result from spending even a five dollar bill, the Boston Evening American will send a series of "Racing Bills" into Boston's newly stimulated business channels.

These bills are contained in celluloid wallets. The wallet contains on its front flap a description of the way in which the first spender of the bill may win a prize, by instantly purchasing something with it when it comes into his possession. On the back flap of the wallet there is provision for the signature of the person receiving the bill, when he spends it, which he bought, and has not yet used.

Early investigation has indicated that the route of any money spent is a fascinating study in commercial complexity of any financial history. The ten bills will be sent out in wide waves during in September and Buying American.

Some of the bills will be started by purchases in department stores and others will be started on their spending spree in the small shops and businesses. The first necessity, of course, is to get the bills into the hands of the people.

Another bill turned in selling goods and discovered a "gold mine."

In order to clearly indicate what a variety of activities result from spending even a five dollar bill, the Boston Evening American will send a series of "Racing Bills" into Boston's newly stimulated business channels.

These bills are contained in celluloid wallets. The wallet contains on its front flap a description of the way in which the first spender of the bill may win a prize, by instantly purchasing something with it when it comes into his possession. On the back flap of the wallet there is provision for the signature of the person receiving the bill, when he spends it, which he bought, and has not yet used.

Early investigation has indicated that the route of any money spent is a fascinating study in commercial complexity of any financial history. The ten bills will be sent out in wide waves during in September and Buying American.

Some of the bills will be started by purchases in department stores and others will be started on their spending spree in the small shops and businesses. The first necessity, of course, is to get the bills into the hands of the people.

Another bill turned in selling goods and discovered a "gold mine."

TAMMANY UPSET MARKS PRIMARY IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 21 (U.S.)—Mayor O'Brien swept to easy victory in the Democratic primaries yesterday, but the organization machine suffered a decisive reversal in the triumph of Deputy Comptroller Frank J. Prial for the nomination for comptroller.

Prial, waging a single-handed battle against John N. Harmon, the organization designer, was leading by more than 50,000 on the basis of unofficial returns.

O'BRIEN KANSY WINNER

The vote for mayor in 372 election districts out of 3794, was: Mayor John P. O'Brien, 371,109; Loring W. Black, 83,175; Jerome G. Ambro, 21,369.

The count for comptroller in 3729 districts was:

Frank J. Prial, 136,137; John N. Harmon, 106,808.

It was estimated that tabulations would give O'Brien a plurality of 15,000 and Prial a plurality of about 65,000, or within 12,000 votes of the result forecast by the deputy comptroller's campaign managers.

The accounting lead snatched by Prial, who by yesterday's vote became the Democratic candidate for comptroller at the Nov. 7 election, was seen as an indication of widespread revolt among independent Democrats throughout the entire city against the organization leadership of their party.

SECESSION CHOICE BEATEN

Prial was running far ahead in every borough except Manhattan, where the organization vote held more firmly. He landed a statement predicting the final tally would place Manhattan in his column also.

Harmon was the personal choice of John H. McCowen, veteran Democratic leader of Kings' County, the McCowen support. Prial also a Brooklyn man had a lead of more than 1200 in Brooklyn, in returns available early today. A definite blow at McCowen's personal prestige was seen.

Enrollment Drops in Malden Schools

Malden, in Malden's public schools is about 200 below last year, with Malden high showing a decrease of 130. The entering class enrollment in the elementary grades is 21 less than last year. The reduced enrollment is attributed to decline of the semi-annual promotion plan.

YEGGS FOILED IN ROXBURY

Cocksmen attempting to rob the office of the Boston Consolidated Gas Co., Columbia rd., Roxbury, apparently became frightened at the noise they made knocking the combination off the safe and fled without securing any money early today.

Their fears were justified whether they knew it or not as tenants living in the same building above the office were awakened by the noise and telephoned police. Officers arrived and found the combination broken off the safe but nothing taken.

He Wasn't Afraid of 'Big Brown Bear'

New York, Sept. 20—Who's afraid of the Big Brown Bear? Not I, said Harry Krause, detective. So he went right on to hunt the big animal that escaped early this morning from a show.

He found him in a tree. He fired two shots from his revolver. The big brown bear dropped, wounded. He was tied up and taken back to the show.

CABOT EXALTS NRA CHIEF

New Haven, Ct., Sept. 19—A critical inspection of the National Recovery Administration by Prof. Philip Cabot of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, led to his terming Gen. Hugh S. Johnson "an evangelist."

Prof. Cabot's estimate of the NRA was set forth in an article, "The Crusade for National Recovery," in the autumn number of the Yale Review.

"The fact is, we have embarked on a crusade," wrote Prof. Cabot. "Gen. Johnson is not so much an administrator as an evangelist, little as he may like the part. If evangelism fails, and force has to be resorted to, breakdown is certain, for no department of any government (least of all a democracy like ours) can possibly understand and direct the industrial system of the nation."

The professor of utilities management said failure of the recovery campaign is certain unless the demand for commodities continues while prices are raised.

U. S., BRITAIN REACH PACT ON ARMS

London, Sept. 20 (TNS)—Intention that Great Britain and the United States have reached a gentlemen's agreement on projected supervision of armaments was given in official quarters today as the Cabinet met to discuss the arms situation.

Effort is being made, it was said, to reconcile the French attitude with the Anglo-American accord within the framework of a proposal being laid before the Cabinet by Capt. Anthony Eden, of the foreign office for a "yes or no" decision following his conversations with French officials in Paris.

The British position, it was revealed, parallels the American in that a condition of any acceptance of supervision of arms control is that disarmament follows immediately at the end of a trial period.

In addition, the extent and nature of such disarmament must be agreed upon in detail before the trial period begins.

It was understood here the French favor a five-year "trial" period and reserve the right to say whether they consider the experiment sufficiently satisfactory to warrant execution of the disarmament clause.

Official circles admitted that "helpful suggestions" from Premier Mussolini of Italy—reported to include concessions to Germany in the matter of light tanks and aircraft—has considerably encouraged the Franco-British conversations.

The situation now has its crystal ball, it was said, but serious one way or another is inevitable.

Steps Through Looking Glass

Charlotte Virginia Henry, chosen in a field of 7000 applicants for the coveted title role in "Alice in Wonderland," shown as she appeared in her first play and her pretty, smiling face in one of her most recent camera studies.

Star in 'Wonderland' Real 'Alice' in Real Life

New York, Sept. 20—Charlotte Virginia Henry has lived in Wonderland for most of her nineteen years.

But for her, the Rabbit Hole and the other side of the Looking Glass have been peopled with Klieg lights, movie roles and Hollywood luminaries, instead of White Queens, Mad Hatters and mad but talkative dormice, as was the case of the Alice she will portray in the screen version of Lewis Carroll's fantasy of childhood, "Alice in Wonderland."

"From the time she was a little girl and old enough to go to theaters she has been 'dressing up' and playing-acting—pretending she was doing one part or another she had seen," her uncle, Thomas Bennett, 311 W. 111th st., who helped to bring her to, recalled.

"One time, when she was about nine, she was swimming with three boys of the same age, she had just seen Gloria Swanson in a picture, being saved from drowning. Out she swam to a raft, 30 yards or so from shore and called to her playmates that the game was 'movie' and that she was the drowning heroine."

"I'll give a nice prize to the first one to swim out and rescue me," she called.

"One of the boys swam out, none intervened in the prize that she won, and she continued, 'and when he leaped on the raft she showed him, just as she had seen it done in the movies.'

"'Oh, gee, if I'd known that was the prize you could have drowned,' her 'uncle' playmate rudely informed her."

19 IN GAME RAID FINED $500

Lawrence, Sept. 20—Plaza tonight was the scene of a game raid in which 19 men were arrested yesterday in a series of spectacular plays on pieces where horse race bets were being placed. A state-wide drive is said to be in progress.

Eighteen of the defendants were fined $25 and the other, Hugh Bradbury of Thornton, N. H., was fined $35, having a previous record.

They were found guilty of being present where bets were being made. The raids were led by state Police Lieut. Thomas H. Mitchell and City Marshal Charles R. Voss, and 30 state troopers participated.

Arrests were made in three places but the operators of other places, including the largest in the city, escaped on account of a "leak" of the police plan.

In defending five defendants arrested at Louie's Smoke Shop in Essex st., Alfy. A. X. Dooler, who is an associate playmate of the district court, remarked:

"They were indulging in something that is to be played every day, practically everybody, including smokers and judges."

"I'll have to take exception to the last part of that remark," said Judge Chandler, smiling.

U. S. HEIRESS JILTS NOBLE

Miss Virginia M. Dugre, of Rock Island, Quincey, became an ex-violinist as well as Mrs. Samuel I. Tuttle.

To climax a summer romance, the 18-year-old Quincey lass eloped with her Somerville sweetheart after her mother, Mrs. Bertha Howard, of Edgewater Drive, Quincey, thought she had the romance "all broken up."

The couple were married Tuesday in New York.

Tuttle's father, Thomas Tuttle, of Curtis ave., Somerville, retiring grocer, was the first to break the news to the mother of his new daughter-in-law.

Then the parents got together and agreed that "what was to be was to be and we might as well make the best of it."

"I had no objections to Sam as a husband for my girl other than her career," said Mrs. Howard.

Now that they are married there is little I can do. They will be welcome at my home any time. Sam is a fine boy and I would have approved of marrying my girl if they waited until she had completed her education and was a little older."

HALIFAX PLANS CHAPLIN FIGHTS FOR NEW PER LITA'S COSTS

Halifax, Sept. 20—This small city counted among her major occupations, the loss of historic "Pier Two" with estimated damage of $100,000.

One fireman was seriously injured when he fell from an upper-level loading platform, and two others, overcome by smoke, were taken to the hospital after a short time.

Harbor commission officials after a conference, announced they had arranged for the drawing of a remodeling plan which would be submitted, they said, to the Dominion government.

Los Angeles, Sept. 20—Support and care of the two young sons of Charlie Chaplin, film comedian, cost $32,000.42 in the past 22 months, his divorced wife, Lita Grey Chaplin, reported in her fifth annual accounting of her custody of the children.

Attorneys for Chaplin insisted that the expenditures were excessive. Lita Chaplin reported that $18,843.54 was required for support of Charles Jr. and $17,156.88 for Sydney Earl Jr.

New Sierra Comedy Is Given Warm Hand at the Tremont; Star Goes Topsy-Turvy

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

Up from the bushes behind the... ah... legs... yes, legs, and thereby hangs a tale of one of the most surprising feats in all our many years' experience sitting in the legitimate offerings. It happened during the second act of a rather notable evening, made so by a new play's all-American city premiere, and by the excellent audience present to note the importance of the fact.

In a nutshell, Miss Blanche Yurka STOOD ON HER HEAD!

The play is Sierra's "Spring in Autumn." Miss Yurka is its star. In a cast, contrary to some opinion, happens just as old-fashioned custom, possibly, it is a wholehearted and as her contribution to the revival of the play, she is invited to do a physical Topsy-turvy. She begins head in stage, then a moment in the air, and in that moment when she is about to fall, she is caught by her arms.

Next to a woman is beautiful, but Miss Yurka is beautiful, but she does, slowly, slowly, and does she fall down and go boom! Nary one white ribbon, but, we all bring into play.

And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play.

And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play.

And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play.

And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play.

And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play.

And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play.

And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play.

And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play.

And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play.

And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play.

And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play.

And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play. And as these things take place, we all bring into play.

Shuberts Pick Malden Girl

Sunny Wright, one of the dancing beauties of Joe Cook's "Hold Your Horses" at the Shubert, is a very happy young lady these days. She has just been selected by J. J. Shubert to understudy One Moment in the leading female role of the Cook show. Sunny hailed originally from Malden, moved to Pittsburgh and came to the theater after she had been chosen Miss Pittsburgh in one of the annual beauty contests.

MAIDIE MRS. BUSTED, who has been a housewife and a businesswoman, Tom Moore, who should have been on the stage many times this year, will make his first screen appearance in "The Great Dictator" with Charlie Chaplin. Moore has also worked in at Universal City for the same picture.

Barry Pinner, Japanese film star, is also in the Ed Wynn picture.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD. FORTY WING DISCOMBATE, her every-day husband, Ed MAURICE CHEVALIER, off for Paris. GILBERT BOLAND just made his first screen appearance in "The Great Dictator" with Charlie Chaplin.

It is a tough job, but Paramount expects to know Polly Moran from the "The Great Dictator" to play the role of "Alice in Wonderland." Will Moran be in good company. Leon Errol is coming back to Hollywood from his tour in "The Great Dictator" to play the part of Uncle Gilbert. Uncle Gilbert is only a picture on the wall and when Alice goes through the wall she sees the back of his head. There is a "to" in this picture. Why should there be? "Alice" is made as well as we hope it will be, every role will be important.

What is a name? Max Gordon is trying to persuade Eddie Evers to come to New York to play the lead in "The Great Dictator" with Charlie Chaplin. Evers takes his first role of a boxer against the final of "The Great Dictator."

"How do you like
my NRA Hat?"

By spending wisely now... she's right in style... and helping speed up Recovery

WHEN MRS. AMERICA DECIDES her old hat won't do a second season... something is bound to happen! And when you multiply this incident by millions of women... then you are looking at the National Recovery Program at work.

Boiled down to the President's own expression, the essence of this program is simply... "ACTION NOW!"

Yes, something has happened in America. If you could sit in the cockpit of a fast plane and fly over the new industrial South—the steel mills in Pittsburgh—the teeming agriculture of the West—you'd get a thrilling picture of Recovery.

Men are at work again! Industry has picked up its tools. Farmers are back behind their plows. America is going places.

On July 24th, when the President made his appeal to American Industry, he started the wheels in motion.

He asked every employer in the country to join in this movement to speed the return of normal business volume.

He asked them to raise wages, shorten hours — and thus put unemployed people back to work.

His second step was an appeal to American merchants.

The big department store as well as the grocer and the drug store on the corner. All were asked to help. And they came into line. Signed their codes. The "Blue Eagle" appeared in thousands of windows. Your merchants did their part gladly.

NOW the next move of this broad program is up to the people! Will you do your part to keep these wheels of recovery running smoothly?

You must start to buy—and remember, every purchase HELPS. A loaf of bread, a new radio, a new car bought from a dealer helps to give people JOBS they deserve.

Do you realize what your purchases mean to this country? The few pennies you spend for the most trifling articles... have the power to put men back to work.

That is why your participation — your buying — is so vital and important right now in the President's Recovery Program.

It is everyone's responsibility. Everyone who has a job. We are the ones who must shoulder most of this burden.

We need a new mental attitude. We've got to quit "scrimping" and over-saving. No one is asking us to be extravagant. But we must spend our money to buy the things we need TODAY.

Spend sensibly—live up to your standard. Buy once more in keeping with your income. Do that and you will have done your share in leading this march toward better times.

The B. & M. in for Another Headache
Over the Garden

By AUSTEN LAKE

There are all sorts of headaches, little buzzes on the inside of the skull, and great, pulsating throbs that lift the scalp. And then there is the sort of headache that the Boston Garden has caused its landlords, the Boston & Maine railroad, a constant hammering at the nerve centers for years and years. I say this because the B. & M. is about to undergo a super special spasm; now it comes to naming a president-general manager to replace Joseph Gilman, recently deceased.

It is a timely time, too, because Colonel John Kilpatrick and Mr. Harold Dibblee, respectively, the soul and body of the New York, or maybe Garden, are arriving in Boston tomorrow to effect an adjustment in the affairs of the Boston, or stepchild Garden, and because Mr. Dibblee has been temporarily cited as the deputy head of the Boston branch.

I have no wish to offend either Col. Kilpatrick or Mr. Dibblee, who are both earnest, creditable characters well above the professional promoter's standard. But neither man understands the temper of this town, or is free to administer the "new deal" which Col. Kilpatrick mentioned when he made his first visit to Boston as the overseer of the town-Garden some weeks ago.

I said then, in the presence of Joe Gilman and Kilpatrick that the bookend had never worked to the advantage of the Boston public, who had been fed on a lean diet of New York leftovers so long that their interest in boxing had faded to the vanishing point. And then Colonel, a thickset, hard, and courteous gentleman, replied that he was presenting Boston with a new deal. "What sort of a new deal?" I asked. "We will place our matches where they will draw the best crowds," he said.

Which amounted to no deal at all, from a Boston angle, because New York can outmuster Boston on crowd volume seven days in the week. And the Colonel, logically, explained that, after all, it was a matter of business. Which, of course, it is under the present duplex trip.

Mention Tack Hardwick as Gilman's Successor

Now Gilman, as everybody knows, was in the Garden as a custodian of B. & M. interests, placed there as a sort of buffer between the Boston minority investors and the New York majority stockholders. For though the 600 millionaires, a mythical collection of New York minded financiers, hold the larger slice of Boston Garden, they have never been able to pay the rent originally agreed upon $100,000 a year, and have been operating on an agreement by which the B. & M. has received a percentage of the net profit of the show, or about one-fourth of the total.

This, of course, gave the railroad a leverage and explained Gilman's retention. It explains, too, why the B. & M. is not apt to consent to a New York deputy taking more than temporary control, and why there are whispers that Huntington R. "Tack" Hardwick, former Harvard athlete and member of the Garden executive committee, is being mentioned as Gilman's possible successor.

Some months ago, when Gilman was looking for an assistant, I asked him what qualifications such a man should have.

"Unimpeachable honesty," said Joe, "a sound business head, complete understanding of human nature, a knowledge of building mechanics, a keen sense of publicity, an abundance of energy, tact, a pleasing personality."

"Hold on," I interrupted, "how much will this job pay?"

"For the right man," said Joe, impressively, "we might pay as high as $200,000."

And before he could draw his first pay a conveyer of angels would come whanging down out of heaven and snitch him up as holy material," said Billy Ames, matchmaker, who was sitting near by.

I doubt that Tack Hardwick, who undoubtedly will be given the refusal of the presidency-mastership, at the possible figure of $10,000—which was what Sheldon Parbanks, Hal Wel, and Dick Dunn were paid during their terms—will take the job. At present he is on a shooting trip at Brookport, Me., and could not get an opinion. But he would certainly satisfy the B. & M., the 600 millionaires and, lastly the Boston public, which is always mentioned last, as a matter of course, in questions of this sort.

Tack Is a Bulldog for Fair Play

For Tack is one of the bulldog breed, who has never outgrown his weakness for fair play in sport and the belief that the customer is entitled to the value of his cash. And though I cannot, offhand, illustrate this argument, I can give you a character, large or two. As we were in the 1933 French Motor outfit in France and instructed to chapters a load of ammunition to the front. And though the roads were well less impassable, Tack trundled his load of explosives until he came to a regiment of artillery which blocked his advance, and after the usual manner of automobiles, refused to give distance. At length a blustering, home-made colonel burstled up in whorled breeches and a tailor's coat. "See here, my man..." he snarled, but got no farther because he was looking down the throat of Tack's service automobile and beyond that into the steady eyes of the mud-spattered officer. "You are way to the left," roared the colonel to his batteries, as Tack's load squashed up the line.

And there was the time when he was walking patrol in Scotland, a volunteer during the police strike, and some benevolent teamster dumped a load of coal conveniently near a crowd of thugs, who cheerfully pelted Tack's person until he routed them with his nightstick and whistled up the reserves. As I recall thought it cost Tack a split schnozle, but he was pounding his beat the next night as usual.

I am thinking what a suitable combination Hardwick as head of the Boston Garden and Col. Kilpatrick as head of the New York Garden would make, both of the bulldog breed. A Harvard-Boston team against a New York-Yale team, both former All-American ends. And Tack will be when it came to protecting Boston sport prerogatives, that the colonel would not call the lack around Hardwick's sector. After all, it's the B. & M.'s headache.

Cincinnati Claims Kamp, More Drawing Power -- Than Greta Garbo

Boston Redskin Tackle

When the Cincinnati Reds stand to lose one of the outstanding players in the professional game if a claim entered by the Cincinnati Reds, new members of the National Pro League, is upheld at the conference of the league, it is a matter of some importance. The Reds claim that Jim Kamp, who has been with Boston for the past two years, is a member of the Cincinnati Reds, and that he is under agreement to play with them this season.

With Tack Edwards and Jack Riley, the trio made one of the most formidable tackle groups in the league.

Merry, will you look what the Framingham Normal girls are up to? Highlight of the field day at Riverside was this tug of war. Aileen Morse led her seniors to victory. Give a girl rope enough, as the saying goes, and she'll play skip rope, tug of war, or, in rare cases, use it for clothesline. Girls will be girls.

Bray Pinner, with Jim Musko and Marger Apoll, furnished excellent blocking, made repeated gains on runner plays and did tackle ably. The big halfback, who is a member of the team, is a member of the team.

Dollfuss Reserves Fascism Decision

The building was heavily guarded with steel-helmeted soldiers and correspondents of the Australian and the foreign press thronged to hear what Chancellor Engelbert Dollfus would say.

The chancellor did not appear, however, a spokesman announcing he would withhold a statement "until he has reached a decision."

Grains Are Lower In Chicago Market

Opening 74.2 cents down, wheat afterward held within the initial limits. Corn started 5-1/4 off, and subsequently altered little.

READERS LAUD ADVERTISING IN BUSINESS

Advertising was named as the greatest force in aiding distribution on the Tuesday session of the Boston conference on retail distribution at the University Club here to a close.

This assertion was contained in many of the addresses of business leaders on only of the day, but from all parts of the nation. Educators and publishers among the speakers also pointed in advertising as a vital force in educating the public regarding the various uses of commodities.

Frank A. Tuck, publisher director of William Reilly, Inc., Boston, acted as chairman of the afternoon discussion panel yesterday.

Harvey Tondal, professor of marketing, Harvard school of business administration, opened the afternoon session of the conference. He introduced Leonard J. Lorne, of Brookline Institute of Washington, D. C., who spoke on the subject, "The Effect of Buying on the Way."

Tondal concluded that this type of buying, prevalent in 1932 and the early part of this year, had been reduced at the present time by more stable buying. He declared, however, that it was difficult to answer this question without changing the time when he had first studied it.

E. M. Moffatt, editor of Electric Merchandising, the retail advertiser's magazine, discussed the merchandising of individual appliances and the difficulties in marketing such appliances. He declared the importance of the individual appliance in the selling of electrical appliances.

John J. Busey, of the General Electric Co., Bridgeport, Conn., who said that quality was most important in the selling of electrical appliances.
